DAILY MATHS ACTIVITIES

For today's challenge you are going to be human scales! Your challenge is to find different objects around your home and hold one in each hand. Can you identify which item is heavier/lighter? Can you sort the items into two groups- heavy and light?

Select three items and put them in order from the lightest to heaviest.

Challenge- Can you find two objects that weigh the same and make your scales balance?

THE WIDER CURRICULUM

Yesterday you made ice cubes. Can you change the ice back into water? Is the change from water to ice reversible?

Your challenge today is to melt your ice! I wonder how you will do it. I am looking forward to finding out the different ways you melt your ice!

Challenge!- Can you test different ways to melt your ice cubes to find the quickest way? E.g. Will the ice melt quicker in your hands or under hot water?
