Schools should publish, about each governor who has served at any time over the past 12 months:

- their full names
- the date they were appointed
- their term of office
- the date they stepped down, where this applies
- who appointed them, in accordance with the governing body’s instrument of governance
- their attendance record at governing body and committee meetings over the last academic year

Schools should publish governors’ relevant business, financial and pecuniary interests, including:

- governance roles in other educational institutions
- any material interests arising from relationships between governors or relationships between governors and school staff, including spouses, partners and close relatives

Schools should also publish this information for associate members, and whether they have voting rights on any committee they have been appointed to.
